Please note that, due to the global supply chain issues caused by the worldwide pandemic, we are unfortunately experiencing various external resource bottlenecks that we can neither fully influence nor control. Regrettably this can lead to individual cases where we cannot guarantee to keep delivery dates for some of our products. However, as your professional partner, we will of course always make every effort to keep any delays as short as possible and, if necessary, to work out individual solutions to mitigate them. Due to the current situation we cannot accept any form of liability claims or claims for damages due to delays in delivery.

Logistics surcharge due to constantly rising logistics costs. For questions please contact your customer service.
